Considering everything, the interest taken in the new Maryland law, which compels educational qualifications in voters, has excited surprisingly little comment throughout the country. The Republicans, who will undoubtedly lose by the new law, have raised a howl, but have succeeded in attracting little attention away from home. The fact is that the Maryland law is more liberal than that of either Massachusetts or Rhode Island, not requiring any actual test, but merely forbidding all aid to a voter in preparing his ballot. As the names are all mixed up on the ticket, no one who cannot read, can mark his ballot correctly. People who study the signs of the times construe the general indifference to mean that there is a growing disposition throughout the country to restrict the right of voting to people who can read and write. This has been done in several Southern states, although Massachusetts and Rhode Island had an educational test long before it was applied in the South. Senator Gorman, the author of the recent Maryland law, believes that the example of that state will be followed by others, and sooner or later all illiterates will be disfranchised. This will reduce the voting strength of the Republican party in the South and that of the Democratic party in the North, while in the West the illiterates are said to be almost equally divided.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals reversed the verdicts of the Scott and Franklin Circuit Courts in the cases of Caleb Powers and James Howard, and granted them new trial. Chief Justice Paynter and Judge Hobson and White dissented in the Powers case, the opinion on which was written by Judge DuRelle. The court was unanimous in the reversal of the Howard case, but Chief Justice Paynter and Judge Hobson delivered separate opinions, in which Judge White concurred. Judge Cantrill's seventh instruction was emphasized by the majority as the principal ground for reversal in the Powers case. The dissenting Judges held there was no cause to set aside the verdict, the points objected to being immaterial. Taylor's pardon of Powers was held to be void. Certain incompetent testimony and remarks of the acting Commonwealth's Attorney were the grounds for the reversal of the verdict against Howard.

The new well turns out to have been much more important than was at first supposed, and it is expected that the well will produce from 300 to 500 barrels a day. There has already been much waste for want of tankage.

A special from Richmond Monday says: William Callahan, one of a large number of mountain rivermen en route from Valley View to their homes after rafting logs to that point, was drugged and robbed here Friday night. Two negroes are now in jail charged with the crime. Callahan died at the infirmary and his body is being held awaiting orders from Clay county which is thought to have been his home.

Young Women

The entry into womanhood is a critical time for a girl. Little menstrual disorders started at that time soon grow into fatal complications. That female troubles are filling graveyards proves this. Wine of Cardui establishes a painless and natural menstrual flow. When once this important function is started right, a healthy life will usually follow. Many women, young and old, owe their lives to Wine of Cardui. There is nothing like it to give women freedom from pain and to fit young women for every duty of life. $1.00 bottles at druggists.

Miss Della M. Strayer, Tully, Kan.: "I have suffered untold pain at menstrual periods for a long time, was nervous, had no appetite, and lost interest in everything, in fact was miserable. I have taken four bottles of Wine of Cardui, with Thedford's Black-Draught, when needed, and to-day I am entirely cured. I cannot express the thanks I feel for what you have done for me."

The man or woman with an irritable temper, restless, fidgety movements, failing memory and lack of concentration is suffering from crippled nerves. The lines of care, the palid cheeks, the wasting flesh, the dark circles under the eyes tell all too plainly of the worry, the pain, the loss of sleep and disturbed digestion, that break down the nervous forces and consume the vital power. For quick and sure relief nothing equals

When I was a boy mother used to send me out doors to get a birch stick to whip me with, when I had to be punished. At first, I would stand off from the rod as far as I could. But I soon found that the whipping hurt me more that way than any other; and so I went as near my mother as I could, and found she could not strike me so hard. And so when God chastens us, let us kiss the rod, and draw as near to him as we can. Moody's Stories.

Did You Ever Think.

That he who says all men are fools is no exception.

That he who life is a failure makes it so.

That the more you pretend to be "somebody" the more you advertise your littleness.

That there are many fools in the world, yet it is not wise to look over the list—you might find yourself.

When you hear a man proclaiming this world could have been made better he is simply trying to impress you that he is wiser than its maker.

Relics of the War.

A man from Crab Orchard created considerable curiosity as he drove down Main Street Monday with a wagon load of cannon balls. He said his son discovered while plowing recently. The supposition is that they were buried during the civil war by Federal soldiers, who, on account of an exploitation of Gen. Morgan, were caused to make a hasty retreat. There are fifty of the balls, weighing twelve pounds each.—Danville Advocate.

An agreement has been reached by representatives of Kentucky coal miners and the operators, and the threatened strike is thus averted.
